Turkey Has Asked For Terms of Peace, Report

U.S. AMBASSADOR MAY ASK ALLIES' PRICE FOR CEASING HOSTILITIES

ROME, MARCH 5.—REPORTS TO THE EFFECT THAT TURKEY WILL SOON SUE FOR PEACE ARE BEING GENERALLY CIRCULATED HERE TODAY. IT IS ALSO RUMORED THAT THE UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR HAS BEEN ASKED BY TURKISH OFFICIALS WHO ASKED HIM TO ASCERTAIN WHAT TERMS THE ALLIES WOULD ACCEPT AND TERMINATE HOSTILITIES INVOLVING THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE.

THE ITALIAN NEWSPAPERS ARE AGAIN STRONGLY URGING ITALY TO ENTER THE WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE ALLIES.

ANOTHER SUBMARINE DESTROYED.
WEST HARTLEPOOL, March 5.—The captain of the British steamship Alston reports that he sank a German submarine in the English channel last Saturday. The British admiralty is now convinced of the truth of the report of the steamer Thordis' captain that he sank a German submarine.

SUBMARINE U-8 SUNK.
LONDON, March 5.—It has been officially announced that the German submarine U-8 was sunk yesterday by destroyers. The crew were imprisoned.

ALLIES ATTACKING OSTEND.
PARIS, March 5.—The Allies are bombarding Ostend and attacking the Germans' sandworks among the dunes along the shore of the North Sea. The French continue to make gains in the Champagne district, and there is severe fighting around St. Die, in the Vosges.

FRENCH REGAIN GROUND LOST TO GERMANS.
PARIS, March 5 (Official).—French troops have recaptured the greater part of the advanced trenches previously lost to the Germans north of Arras, and now hold a large part of the town of Vauquois.

German artillery is again bombarding Rheims.

GERMANS WORKED OUT OF VERY BAD POSITION; BELOW ZERO IN POLAND

PETROGRAD, MARCH 5.—IT IS OFFICIALLY ADMITTED TODAY THAT THE GERMANS EXTRICATED THEMSELVES FROM THE PERILOUS PREDICAMENT THEY WERE IN ALONG THE NIEMAN AND BOBR RIVERS IN POLAND.

THE WEATHER IS BITTERLY COLD, BEING 20 DEGREES BELOW ZERO IN SOME SECTIONS.

THE GERMANS ARE MASSING FOR ATTACKS EXTENDING FROM SIMNO TO SEREJE. RE-ENFORCED, THE RUSSIANS ARE STARTING A STRONG OFFENSIVE CAMPAIGN IN THE REGION OF OLITA, AND THE KAISER'S MEN ARE AGAIN ASSAULTING OSSOWIEC.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS DROVE THE GERMANS BACK 12 MILES BETWEEN MLAWA AND CHORZELE, AND THE FORMER STORMED MLAWA, BUT WERE REPULSED.

GERMAN FORCES IN GALICIA AND BUKOWINA ARE BEING PUSHED WESTWARD BY THE RUSSIANS.

ONLY TWO FORTS LEFT TO HINDER ALLIED FLEET; TURKS SEEM CONFIDENT

LONDON, MARCH 5.—THE ALLIES' GIGANTIC NAVAL EFFORTS TO FORCE THE DARDANELLES NOW STRETCHES ALONG THE COAST OF ASIA MINOR AND THE COAST OF THE GALLI POLI PENINSULA. ATTACKS HAVE BEEN MADE AT MANY PLACES; FORTS HAVE BEEN LEVELLED AND HUGE GUNS DESTROYED, UNTIL BUT TWO FORTS NOW DISPUTE THE ENTRANCE TO THE MARMORA SEA.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND ARE MARSHALING AN ARMY OF 100,000 MEN FOR THE LAND ATTACK ON CONSTANTINOPLE. PANIC REIGNS IN THE TURKISH CAPITAL. IT IS REPORTED THAT THE SULTAN HAS ALREADY FLED INTO THE INTERIOR OF ASIA MINOR. AN UPRISING IS THREATENED AGAINST THE "YOUNG TURKS," WHO ARE BLAMED FOR INVOLVING TURKEY IN THE WAR.

CONSTANTINOPLE, MARCH 5.—TURKISH OFFICIALS CONFIDENTLY STATE THAT THE ALLIES WILL FAIL TO REACH CONSTANTINOPLE; NEVERTHELESS, GREAT PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE TO MEET EMERGENCIES.

THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR IS DAILY COMMUNICATING WITH THE TURKISH GOVERNMENT AND WASHINGTON. THE EMBASSY IS WORKING UNDER STEADY PRESSURE.

BERLIN, MARCH 5.—AN UNOFFICIAL DISPATCH FROM CONSTANTINOPLE SAYS THAT ONE OF THE ALLIES' TORPEDO BOATS WAS SUNK IN THE DARDANELLES BY TURKISH GUNNERS.

BRITISH SUFFERING IN YPRES REGION.
BERLIN, March 5 (Official).—The Germans are inflicting severe losses on the British near Ypres. French attacks in the Champagne region were repelled. At the east the Russians lost heavily when they attacked the Germans in the vicinity of Lomza. West of Lomza to the Vistula river the situation is unchanged.

RIDDLE REMAINS ON WAY TO PETERSBURG; FUNERAL THIS A. M.

BRIEF SERVICE AT ST. AUGUSTINE BY EPISCOPAL RECTOR. NUMEROUS PROMINENT MEN AMONG PALLBEARERS.

(Special to the Daily News.)
ST. AUGUSTINE, March 5.—The funeral of the late general manager of the Florida East Coast railway, Morton P. Riddle, whose death occurred here on Thursday morning, was held at 11:45 this morning at the Riddle home. The brief service was conducted by Rev. Fitz James Hindry, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church.

The remains left at 12:55 this afternoon for Petersburg, Va., Mr. Riddle's old home, accompanied by the family and P. W. Kirtland. Committal and interment will take place at Petersburg tomorrow.

CAPTAIN CHICHESTER A DAYTONA VISITOR
A distinguished visitor to Daytona the past couple of days was Capt. I. K. Chichester, for 30 years a captain of the Clyde liners sailing between New York and Jacksonville. Captain Chichester has not been in Daytona for six or seven years and notes with interest the wonderful development of the city. He left on the 10:01 train for Jacksonville today.

Captain Chichester has followed the sea for a total of 56 years, and although young in looks has passed the 76th milestone of life. Mrs. Chichester still lives and the couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary two years ago. Their home is on Long Island.

M. C. Phillips has returned from Tampa and is again with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Edmondson at Holly Hill. Mr. Phillips is a member of the Phillips company of Chicago, Ill., and while at Tampa closed a contract with the Tampa-Cuba Cigar company for the installation of an automatic sprinkler system. He will go from this state to Texas. Mr. Phillips is Mrs. Edmondson's brother-in-law.

BAD NEGRO VICTIM OF MILTON'S SLEUTHING

HENRY WILLIAMS, WANTED IN ORANGE COUNTY, CAUGHT HERE THROUGH RUSE OF POLICE CHIEF.

A strange negro appeared in town Wednesday, and the fact that he had a good looking bicycle that did not harmonize with its custodian's apparently none too affluent circumstances excited Chief of Police Milton's curiosity. This was extremely unfortunate for the negro, for the chief's anxiety to learn more of the bicycle's history became so intense that he had to relieve the pressure. This was accomplished by the simple means of arresting both nigger and bike.

Mr. Milton did a really creditable bit of sleuthing in connection with the arrest of the negro, who proved to be quite a smooth-tongued, slippery individual. He got out of town once, but a clever ruse of the officers caused him to return and get trapped.

HAS HIS OWN WAR

Gunner With Traction Engine Plays Lone Hand.

British Officer Tells of "Funny Old Cove" Who Travels About With Field Piece and Fires When He Is Ready.

London.—While it is said that modern warfare does not give to the individual many chances to distinguish himself, a British cavalry officer in a letter to the London Times tells of a gunner who carries on a little war of his own. Going about on a traction engine, towing his gun behind him, he unlimbers, fires a few shots and goes on his own way. That his work, no matter how amusing, is effective is told by the officer, who says:

"There is one incident I must cite; it amuses us mightily. Some time ago, when closer to the lines, we were out exercising one fine morning when the funniest old outfit came along—some old guy gunner with a big gun towed by a sort of traction engine. He was a funny looking old chap. He stopped his caravan, consulted some notes, and swung around into position and let off a couple of shots. The first one over, second short, and it appears he was quite satisfied with the next four, for he started packing up again.

"He had a kind of aeroplane with him, too, on a lorry, also in tow. He was the funniest looking old cove you ever saw; seemed to be running a little show of his own. Last we saw of

"He waits, and after five minutes wriggles on his road, coughing and snorting and sparking, and it's all right and you can go to sleep again. The wasps—the beggars always get you on the hop—those are the dispatch riders, through which all our orders come.

"There was a park of flying men near our last billet. They brought down a taube with rifle fire from two of our planes that went up after him. They have one very fast biplane there. I heard one very great yam of a big observer. While he was flying over the German lines and returning against a strong head wind the machine gave a heavy jerk and dip and sent his gun, map case, etc., overboard. Some seconds after the pilot felt a great bump. It was his pal coming back into his seat, from which he had been absent much too long for his own comfort.

"The wings of the machine were riddled with shrapnel and the pilot and observer had to sit tight over their sheets of armor plate. I think they are worthy of the greatest praise. The only thing we envy them is the impossibility of their being turned out at night. They can work only by day."

Scared the Scare.

Through a moving day accident little Tim had been left all day in a locked and lonely house. "Weren't you scared?" he was asked, when his absence from the reunited family had been discovered and his rescue effected. "Didn't it frighten you to stay there so long all alone?" "I was awfully scared at first," was Tim's naive confession, "but this afternoon I was just sort of sleepy. I guess I got so scared this morning that it scared the scare right out of my bones!"

RUE JEANNE D'ARC! AH, HOW ABOUT IT?

Tragedy in French Town as Overheard in Cafe of the Golden Lion.

SCENE AT APERITIF HOUR

Mme. la Patronne Tells How the Uhlans, in Lordly Fashion, Paid for the Drinks She Served Them.

Paris.—We were sitting in a cafe at the aperitif hour—an hour that survives the war. We were in a city of good size in northern France, famous for both cathedral and cheese. It was then a principal haven for refugees and an evacuation center for wounded. The Germans had been there, as the patronne of the Cafe du Lion d'Or narrated constantly, but now the battle lines were some distance away. If the wind happened from the right direction, when the noise of the city was silenced by military order at night-fall, the haunting boom—boom—of heavy artillery could be heard faintly. No one who has heard that sound ever forgets it. Dynamite blasting sounds just about the same, but in the sound of artillery, when one knows that it is artillery, there seems so much the smell of doom.

The cafe was crowded. The fat face of the patronne was wreathed in smiles. Anyone is mistaken who imagines that all northern France is lost from human view in a dense rolling cloud of smoke. At any rate, in the Cafe du Lion d'Or one looked upon life unchanged. True, there were some new customers in the place of old ones. There were a half dozen soldiers in khaki, and we of the American ambulance column, dressed in the same cloth. In a corner sat a young lieutenant in the gorgeous blue of the Chasseurs d'Afrique, drinking vermouth with a grizzled captain of artillery. Other French uniforms dotted the place. The "honest bourgeois" were all there—the chief supporters of the establishment in peace or war. They missed the evening aperitif during the twelve days of German occupation, but now all were in their accustomed places. For the places of old times are sacred at the Lion d'Or.

Teak Husband's Place.
Mme. la Patronne acted in place of her husband, who was now safely serving in the cooking department of the army, some kilometers from the firing line. Madame sat contentedly at the counter superintending the activities of two youthful, inexperienced garçons. The old waiters, Jean and Andre, vanished into the "zone of military activity" on the first day of the war. After several post cards Jean had not been heard from. Andre was killed at the battle of the Marne.

We had heard the garrulous tale of the German occupation many times. It was thrillingly revealed both at the restaurant du Commerce and the Hotel du Soleil. At the Lion d'Or it was Madame's absorbing theme when not arranging the new waiters—or counting change. Madame remained throughout the trouble. "But yes, to be sure." She was not the woman to flee and leave the Lion d'Or to the invaders. Her ample form was firmly resented behind the counter when the first of the uhlans entered. There were officers, and—wonder of wonders—they spoke French. The new waiters were hiding in the cellar, so Madame clambered from her chair with dignity and placed glasses and drink before them. And then—would wonders never cease?—these Germans had actually paid—even overpaid, ma foi—for one of them flung a golden half louis on the counter and walked from the place, refusing change.

Of course at the Hotel de Ville the invaders behaved differently. There the mayor was called upon for one million francs—war indemnity. But that was a matter for the city's concern and not the individual. Madame still had that golden half louis and could show it if we cared to see. Gold was scarce and exceedingly precious. The sight of it was good.

Unanimity of the War.
Now the Germans were gone—driven out, grace a Dieu, so the good Germans no longer lived in the cellars. They were again in their places at the Lion d'Or sipping vermouth and offering gratitude to the military regime. We had the decency to allow cafes to open until eight o'clock. Outside the night was cold and a fine drizzle beat against the windows. Several new-comers shivered and remarked that it was terrible in the trenches. But the electric lights, the clinking glasses and the marble tables, the rattling of the billiard balls, the general line of speculation on how long it would take to drive the Germans from France.

For a hundred years the cafes have been the forum of France. The Lion d'Or had for that entire period been a scene of fierce verbal encounters between members of more political and religious faiths than exist in any other part of the world. Every Frenchman matters how humble in position or how he has decided opinions about something. But now the voices in the Lion d'Or arose only in appellations of the Boches. There was unanimity of opinion on the absorbing subject of the war.

The members of the American ambulance column sat at a table near the door. Our khaki always brought looks of friendly interest. Almost everyone thought us to be English, and those who learned the truth were always distinctly pleased. We finished the aperitif and consulted about dinner. We were off duty—we might either return for the army mess or buy our own meal at the restaurant. We paid the garçon and decided upon the restaurant—a few doors away. Several of the men were struggling into their rubber coats. I told them that I would follow shortly. I had just caught a sentence that thrilled me. It held a note of mystery—or tragedy. It brought life out of the commonplace normality of the aperitif hour at the Lion d'Or.

Where the Tragedy Comes.
The speakers were two Frenchmen of middle age—fat and bearded. They were dressed in ordinary black, but wore it with ceremonial rather than conventional manner. The atmosphere of the city did not seem upon them. They might rather be the butcher and the grocer of a small town. One of the pair had sat alone for some time before the second arrived. I had noticed him. He seemed to have no acquaintances in the place—which was unusual. He drank two cognacs in rapid succession—which was still more unusual. One drink always satisfies a Frenchman at the aperitif hour—and it is very seldom cognac.

When the second man entered the other started from his seat and held out both hands eagerly. "So you got out safe?" were the words I heard, but our crowd was hurrying toward the door, and I lost the actual greeting. I ordered another vermouth and waited.

The two men were seated opposite each other. The first man nervously motioned to the waiter and the newcomer gave his order. It was plain that they were both excited, but the table adjoining was unoccupied, so they caused no attention. The noisy waiter, slapping bottles on the table, drowned out the next few sentences. Then I heard the second man: "So I got out first, but you managed to get here yesterday—a day in advance." The other replied: "I was lucky enough to get a horse. They were shelling the market place when I left." The second man gulped his drink and plucked nervously at the other's sleeve. "My wife is at the hotel," he almost mumbled the words. "I must tell her—you said the market place. But how about the Rue Jeanne d'Arc?"—her sister lived there. She remained.

"How about the Rue Jeanne d'Arc?" the other repeated. He clucked his tongue sympathetically. "That was all destroyed in the morning."

The second man drew a handkerchief from his pocket and mopped the sweat from his forehead. Then he paid the waiter.

SHOT TEN TIMES, IS UNHURT

Bullet Holes Were Found in Clothing of Detective Fighting Thieves.

Hammond, Ind.—Friends of Frank Wiroski, head of Erie detective force for the Huntington-Chicago division, says he bears a charmed life. After a thrilling revolver battle with car thieves, he found ten bullet holes in his clothing, but he escaped unhurt. Wiroski surprised ten men who were stripping an Erie freight car in the Griffith yards. He opened fire on them and in a running battle 39 shots were fired. The thieves escaped.

Use Copper Bullets.

Petrograd.—The war has made the price of lead so high some of the nations have been compelled to make bullets from copper, particularly Russia.

Mr. Samples' Sister

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

I was serving my first and only term of sheriff in an Indiana county when a smart looking aged man who gave the name of Samples, arrived at the county seat and gave out that he was looking around for a site for a large factory. He was provided with letters of recommendation and the air of a man of business and soon had the two bankers in the town and other business men interested in his project. His factory was to make a new kind of cloth out of what he called Persian hemp. He had samples of the cloth to show, and it could be made and sold at 400 per cent profit. Samples himself would put $500,000 into the enterprise, but he wanted the town to subscribe $200,000 additional so as to make it a home affair.

On the second night of Samples' arrival in our town a fine horse was stolen from a citizen. During the first week's stay more horses were run off. In three weeks' time twelve of the best horses in our township were taken. As sheriff I was not idle for an hour after the first horse was taken. Even if I was a little green myself as an officer I had two or three constables and deputies who were old hands at the business. Some of the horses we traced a few miles, always headed for the Ohio river, but the thieves were slick fellows and covered their tracks so well that not a horse was recovered.

One day while I was shivering in my boots and expecting to hear that the thirteenth horse had been stolen a flash of light came to me. Every horse taken had gone south by a certain road. At a certain point all trace had been lost. Ten miles to the south of us was a big huckleberry swamp of 2,000 acres. It was a wilderness and had only been explored by hunters. It was a big tangle, full of snakes and wildcats, and even berry pickers took good care not to penetrate too far. It flashed over me that the stolen horses instead of being run out of the state had been corralled in this swamp to wait until the hue and cry were over. Within two hours I had started for the swamp, accompanied by a constable. By pure good luck after a tramp of half a day we came upon a trail showing the hoof prints of horses, and, following it to the very center of the swamp, we came upon the whole twelve stolen animals. Feed had been brought in to them by another trail.

It was a fine "plant" we uncovered. There were two men to take care of the horses. One of them was a blacksmith and he had a forge and dozens of horseshoes. As the animals were run out the plan was to shoe each one with the shoes reversed and thus deceive us in case we struck a trail. We made a cautious approach, but in spite of us the two men got away. We scarcely regretted it, however, in view of the capture of the third one, who had just arrived. It was Mr. Samples the flux cloth man, the factory man, the man with letters of introduction. Yes, sir, he had arrived to give his subordinates directions, and as he fled with the others he tripped and fell, and we were enabled to overhaul him. He didn't even blurt. We had got him so put that he could not say anything. In his pockets were letters sufficient to convict him twice over, and his game was up.

You know what human nature is in a small town. I had been maligned and abused without stint for failing to capture the horse thieves. Now that I had got all the stolen horses in a bunch and the horse thief in addition nothing was too good for me. I was enthralled and all that and got a serenade from the band and had bonfires going in my honor. The arrest of Samples was a thunderclap, but the public soon got over its astonishment and demanded that he receive the maximum punishment of the law. He was examined, committed for trial, and I took care to give him the strongest cell in the county jail. The man gave me no trouble. After recovering his check a little he claimed that he would be able to prove his entire innocence before a jury, and he was so cheery and good natured that I came to like him. He had three months to wait for the circuit court, and he made no move in regard to lawyers or witnesses until half the time had expired. By that time the public had lost most of its interest in the case.

One day Samples announced to me that his sister would soon arrive to see about getting him a lawyer and called forth, and a day or two later she called at the jail. She was a rather quiet looking woman of about twenty-five, spoke in a choked voice and wore a veil, and without questioning her much I led her to Samples' cell and left them alone. It so happened that I had to go into court directly after, and I left it to a turnkey to let her out. He did so, and it was three hours later when I made the discovery that the two had exchanged clothes, and the woman had been left behind. The turnkey hadn't noticed anything out of the way as the "woman" passed out.

I didn't faint away or have a fit or commit suicide. I simply tendered my resignation and went off on a vacation. I knew my public, and I knew that although I had recovered the horses that "sister" business had taken me out of politics forever. She got ninety days in jail as punishment, I believe, but Samples got clear off and, no doubt, worked his little game to advantage in other localities.

THE NEWEST INTRODUCTION!

"The Velvet Kind"
The Cream of All Ice Creams

PEOPLE all over Florida can now secure this wonderfully good cream—the kind that has captivated the people everywhere. To the scrupulous care in making is due its richness—its flavor. The raw cream comes from the finest Government inspected cows. It is tested in our own laboratory for its per cent of butter fat. The very finest quality of fruit and nuts are used in THE VELVET KIND. To make sure of the destruction of all bacteria all milk is Pasteurized, subjected to 180 degrees of heat. After the ingredients are mixed the cream is gradually cooled to 32 degrees—then it is placed in the freezers and from the freezers it is transferred to the cooling room to harden; this room is kept at zero at all times. NO HUMAN HANDS TOUCH IT at any stage of its making—and it is made in a plant where the sanitation could not possibly be improved on. Order it at the fountain, at your favorite store. If your dealer has not yet handled it, write us, and we will see that you are supplied.

AT THE NEW DAYTONA THEATER TONIGHT

The merry musical comedy, The Prince of Tonight, by Adams, Hough and Howard, with Tom Arnold, the former Northwestern university football and baseball star, in the title role, will be seen and appreciated at the New Daytona theater tonight. It is a delightful little story in which the authors have cleverly linked modern characters with magic and mythical situations. There are a number of clever people in the cast and they all work hard to please. There is a sprightly chorus of a dozen or so pretty girls and good looking men and the piece skips along at a lively pace, never lagging or growing tiresome. There is a well defined story and during its unraveling, a number of song hits are introduced, as well as various other entertainment suggestive of vaudeville, which is always popular with theatergoers. The story deals with the adventures of Mr. Arnold, as Jim Sutherland, as a stranded college graduate, who falls in love with a beautiful heiress while serving as a lifesaver at the Hotel Breakers at Palm Beach. She snubs him, of course, and taunts him about his lack of wealth and social position. Arnold, however, is befriended by an aged gardener, who has learned mysteries of magic from the century plant, which blooms once a year. He turns Arnold into a prince of the mythical country of Lunlania just for one night, with the understanding that if he fails to receive a kiss from the right girl before the moon has crossed the heavens, he forfeits, at dawn, his life. The manner in which he escapes the threatened fate and wins the girl is interestingly told and is worth hearing. Special scenery is carried by the company, the transformation scenes are artistic, the costumes and electric effects elaborate and the music tuneful and lively.

NEGRO BADLY HURT ON SHOW GROUND THURS.

A negro employee of the Johnny Jones shows, who assists in operating the gasoline engine that supplies power for the Ferris wheel, was badly injured early Thursday evening. The negro was working about the engine when he accidentally got caught in a flywheel. He was whirled around a time or two and then flung violently to the ground. One of his arms was broken at the elbow, the bones of which were badly crushed; and various portions of his body were cut and bruised. The injured man suffered a great deal until his wounds were attended to by Dr. Klock.

Disavowed the Corset.

In the nineteenth century, directly following the French revolution, when men lived and dreamed in terms of freedom, women expressed their desire for an untrammelled existence by disavowing their corsets and adopting the long, easy lines of the empire gown. The style of the corset depends on the style of the gown, and here, again, concessions were made to the figure, which rendered stays unnecessary.

Just out of their new boxes--- are some arrestingly pretty gowns, suits, dresses, silk and angora sweaters.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT DECIDED YESTERDAY

MISS ESTHER HUBBELL AND HARBIN H. JOHNSTON, WON

FINALS IN ANNUAL WINTER
TOURNAMENT AT CLARENDON
ON TUESDAY.

An interesting event occurred on the Clarendon hotel tennis courts Thursday morning when the finals of the annual winter's tournament were held. Miss Louise Crosby, of Topeka, Kansas, and Hugh Caperton, of Louisville, Kentucky, were defeated by Miss Esther Hubbell, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Harbin H. Johnston, of St. Paul, Minn. The first set was won by the former after an exceptionally hard and interesting match, 7-5. The playing of Miss Crosby was at all times most brilliant, which combined with the net play of Mr. Caperton bordering on the sensational, won them victory.

As is customary in tennis championships the contestants changed courts after the first set was finished and many remarks were heard from the large gallery present that Miss Hubbell and Mr. Johnston would put up a great fight as they have played some of the finest tennis seen in many seasons on the East coast, where the appeared to be at home. The second set ended in an easy victory for Miss Hubbell and Mr. Johnston 6-1, their service and returns seeming to completely bewilder their clever opponents. The third and deciding set was a replica of the second, the score being 6-12 in favor of Miss Hubbell and Mr.

G. FAATZ FIRST IN PUTTING CONTEST

The clock golf putting match held at Hotel Clarendon on Thursday was witnessed by a gallery of fully 200 enthusiastic spectators, and resulted in G. Faatz winning first prize; Mr. Armstrong, second, and Miss Armstrong, third. Following is the schedule of play with score of each player.

Johnston. The decisive score was due undoubtedly to the fact that the younger players became somewhat nervous and over-zealous from which the victors did not apparently suffer as they are veterans of many such contests and consequently were the personification of coolness. In the second set Miss Crosby had two very serious falls while trying to make difficult returns, which might have terminated seriously, but by displaying a wonderful exhibition of nerve and fortitude she refused to allow the game to be delayed and resumed play amid the applause of the spectators.

By EUNICE BLAKE

The passes in the Swiss mountains have doubtless been used by man ever since he began to travel, but in former times they were crossed very differently from the present. During the middle ages small parties or even individuals would cross the mountains on foot, usually conducted by a guide.

During that period when William Tell is supposed to have shot the apple from his son's head, in the village of Altdorf, where he flourished, lived a young Swiss named Friedrich Sohm.
His occupation was to guide persons over the St. Gotthard pass down into northern Italy, then bring others back to Lucerne. Friedrich loved and was loved by a young girl named Agatha, and they were only waiting till he had made one more trip over the pass to be married. Then he was intending to build a boat on the Lake of the Four Cantons in which to carry passengers back and forth between Fleweln and Lucerne.

One day came Leonardo Morelli, a Florentine who had been to Paris with some jewels which he had sold and was taking back the gold he had received for them. He engaged Friedrich to conduct him across the pass to the point on the Italian side where now is the mouth of the tunnel, whence he could proceed by road to Lugano.

All day guide and man toiled up the mountain and in the evening rested at an inn on the Italian side. The merchant carried his gold in a leather bag sewed to a belt at his waist.
When he entered the inn and the landlord conducted him to his room Sohm tossed his bag on a table, causing the gold pieces inside to give out the sound of coins. This excited the cupidity of the landlord, and during the night, when the merchant was asleep, he stole into the room and took his gold. Then, in order to avert suspicion, he opened the door to the guide's room and dropped one of the coins on the floor.

In the morning the merchant made a great ado about his loss, and the landlord suggested that he search the guide's room. Of course a piece of gold was found on the floor. Friedrich protested his innocence, but was unable to make the merchant believe that he was not the thief. The guide consented to continue the journey to Lugano, where he would give himself up, preferring this course to being a fugitive and an outlaw.

It was the month of May, when the snow in the Alps is melting, and in certain parts of the journey the guide and the merchant traveled joined by a rope. In passing over a narrow path where on one side was a precipice the snow gave way and the merchant would have gone down with it had not the guide braced himself so firmly as to save him.

Sohm was so grateful that he offered to forgive Friedrich the theft of his gold provided he would return one half of it. Friedrich still insisted that he knew nothing about the money, that the landlord must have stolen it and proposed that they return to the inn and investigate the matter. To this the merchant consented, and they retraced their steps. When they reached the inn they accused the landlord of the theft and declared that if he did not restore the property a constable would be brought to take him where he would be tried.

The landlord was much agitated at this, for in those days criminals were usually put to the torture to make them confess. However, he stuck to his denial, claiming that the coin found in the guide's room was proof positive that he was the thief.

The inn stood on a southern exposure which in summer was free from snow, but though it was now getting thin the ground, or, rather, the rock on which it stood, was still covered. The day had been very warm, and since the departure of the two men in the morning the sun, shining through the thin atmosphere, had left several bare spots. Friedrich just before sunset went out on the ledge, where the Italian sunset was spread out before him, to think of some plan for finding the gold which he believed the landlord had hidden. While sitting there water was trickling from the melting snow. Before arising to return to the

In a space had been uncovered and,
looking down beside him, he saw what at first he believed to be a yellow stone, but on closer inspection proved to be a gold coin.

Friedrich's first impulse was to accuse the landlord anew, fortified by this proof, but he was not used to acting on impulse. Instead, he went to the merchant, told him what he had found and suggested that the thief had buried the gold in different places under the snow and if they waited till the sun uncovered the ground they might recover it all.

The merchant consented, and they remained where they were, one or the other being outside all day to watch both the ground and the landlord to see that he did not remove the gold.
As the sun melted the snow here and there a dozen or so pieces of gold appeared, which were taken in, and at last every piece was recovered. Then without a word to the landlord they went down the mountain into Italy.

The merchant, being indebted to Friedrich for his life as well as for the recovery of his gold, insisted on

INTERMENT MADE IN ELKS'

LOT IN PINWOOD CEMETERY

The remains of John Brink, whose death was noted in Thursday's issue of the Daily News, were interred this morning at 9:00 o'clock in the Elks' burial plot in Pinewood cemetery, Daytona Beach. The local lodge of Elks had been caring for the deceased since his illness and destitute condition was discovered about two weeks ago.

SUCCESSFUL CONTESTANTS AT

DESPLAND HOTEL CARD PARTY

At the regular Thursday evening card party at the Despland hotel the 500 prizes were secured by Mrs. Worthington of Detroit, Mich., and J. F. Hollowell, of Philadelphia, Pa., while at bridge the ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Rhodes, of Wheeling, W. Va., and the gentlemen's prize by Senator G. A. Blauvelt, of New York city.

Tip to the Jury.

The great John Philpott Curran was once addressing a jury in an important case. During his speech he observed that the judge shook his head. Fearing the gesture should have an adverse influence on the jury, Curran warmed up for the moment and said: "I see, gentlemen, the motion of his lordship's head, but, believe me, if you remain here many days you will see that when his lordship shakes his head there's nothing in it."

PEORIA, Ill., March 5.—The Illinois basketball championship tournament will take place here this afternoon. There is the greatest interest in the outcome by both sexes. Over 500 teams will participate.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS

PEORIA, Ill., March 5.—The American bowling congress tournament opened here for a few days' tournament. A special train will bring the delegates from St. Paul and Minneapolis.

In the Ranks of Unreasonables.

"Wasn't there something about a promise to love, honor, and obey me in that marriage ceremony?" asked Mr. Meekton. "My goodness, Leonidas! You are like some of those politicians who never quit talking about a party platform."—Washington Star.

Their Residences.

One day small Peter was out walking with his aunt and his attention was called to a cemetery—"the first he had seen. "Oh, mamma," he exclaimed upon his return home, "auntie showed me where all the dead people live."

Folly of Profanity.

Although the use of some expletive decently and in order may often be justified, it is something we should all try to avoid. Thoroughly well balanced men and women never let their nerves become wrought up to a pitch where swearing is necessary. They appreciate that no matter how good scientific reasons there may be for expletives their use is a confession of weakness.

Preventing China From Chipping.

Household china is apt to get chipped at the taps in the kitchen. Cut two small pieces from some garden-hose or rubber tubing, and slip one over each of the faucets at the sink. This will prevent such accidents.

SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS BE PAID AFTER 60 DAYS

WASHINGTON, MARCH 5.—IT WILL REQUIRE 60 DAYS FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS TO PAY SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS, WHICH AMOUNT TO NEARLY $2,000,000, LIQUIDATION OF WHICH HAS JUST BEEN AUTHORIZED. THE FIRST STEP TO SECURE THE MONEY IS FOR ADMINISTRATORS OF ESTATES TO FILE THEIR CLAIMS WITH THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT'S DIVISION OF BOOKKEEPING AND AUDITING, AFTER LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION HAVE BEEN SECURED FROM THE PROBATE COURTS. THEN THE CLAIMS WILL GO TO THE WARRANT DIVISION, WHERE WARRANTS WILL BE ISSUED IN PAYMENT OF THE CLAIMS.

THE ACT AUTHORIZING PAYMENT OF WAR CLAIMS STIPULATES THAT ATTORNEYS FOR CLAIMANTS CANNOT BE PAID OVER 20 PER CENT. OF THE AMOUNT ALLOWED.

SITUATION UP TO ENGLAND, SAYS GERMANY.

BERLIN, March 5.—High government officials stated today that the decision in the matter of safeguarding commerce now rests with England, and that Germany has shown good faith in the matter of protecting the interests of neutrals. "If England wants to do the same, let her accept the suggestions made by the United States," said an official. He added that he does not expect England to do so.

Cooks Held in High Honor.

There is no better proof of the delicacy of the Greek palate than the honor in which cooks were held. They plied their trade with the greatest freedom, and, not being attached to this master or that, they were called in by the rich on occasions of brilliant festivity. What wonder then the cook's was a respectable profession, becoming a free man?

ELEMENTARY WORKERS'

CONFERENCE IN INDIANA

HUNTINGTON, Ind., March 5.—Sunday school teachers in the elementary grades met here in a big state conference today. Each county is limited to ten delegates and each school to two. The delegates will be addressed by Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, and plans will be made for uniformly advancing their work.

The Better Situation.

When two loving hearts are torn asunder it is a shade better to be the one that is driven away into action than the bereaved twin that petrifies at home.—Charles Reade.

Cause of the Trouble.

"Didn't marry her, eh? I suppose you were afraid you could not support her in the style to which she had become accustomed?" "Oh, no, I was not at all afraid of that." "Then why didn't?" "It was she that was afraid I could not."—Houston Post.

Life Saving Extraordinary.

An Irishman, meeting a friend, asked what had become of their old chum, Sandy. "Ah, poor old Sandy. Didn't you hear? Why, he was condemned to be hanged, but he saved his life by committing suicide in jail."

Bingham & Maley Company The Furniture House

Read about
these conveniences that
made the HOOSIER necessary to over 700,000 women.

(1) Mrs. Christine Frederick's famous "Housekeepers' Food Guide"—on the upper left door—answers the eternal problem: "What shall we have for dinner?"

(2) The Cook-book Holder on the middle upper door holds your cook book securely when not in use. When you are cooking, simply open up the book to the proper page behind the holder. It is on a level with your eye, always clean, never in the way.

There are 40 special conveniences
in the NEW HOOSIER—17
are entirely NEW.

(3) The Hoosier Metal Flour Bin holds fifty pounds. It is low and easy to fill. The sliding glass front enables you to clean the entire bin easily. The inside is entirely of metal, with no corners to hold flour. First flour in is always out first.

(4) The New Shaker Flour Sifter is the most wonderful of all the new Hoosier inventions. It is the only flour sifter ever made on a kitchen cabinet that shakes flour through instead of grinding it through. It cannot wear out and cannot grind through any grit or foreign substance that might be in the flour.

OUR WINDOW DISPLAY is
the talk of the town—come and see it.

(5) A new feature in the Base Cupboard is a narrow shelf conveniently located for the storage of canned articles. Most women will find this a great convenience as an "emergency shelf." It will save many trips to the cellar or pantry.

TOMORROW YOU may examine all the new features. You incur no obligation. But you should come early. You may be too late to get one on the HOOSIER PLAN if you delay. Come and SEE this remarkable NEW Hoosier tomorrow.

DEXTER BROWN SENT TO CRIMINAL COURT

NEGRO CHARGED WITH STEAL-ING MONEY FROM PECK'S
STORE GIVEN COMMITMENT
TRIAL THIS MORNING.

Dexter Brown, the young negro man who entry into W. H. Peck's dry goods store and alleged theft of money from the cash drawer caused a great deal of excitement for a little while yesterday afternoon, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace M. G.

Rowe this morning. The specific charge against Brown was that of entering a building with intent to commit a misdemeanor, but the actual crime, according to A. Winne, the principal witness, bordered on a felony.

After hearing the statements of Mr.
Winne, C. Nussbaum, and the accused, Judge Rowe ordered that the prisoner, in lieu of his inability to give bond in the sum of $750, be held in the county jail at Deland until such time as the case may be disposed of in the criminal court. It is not likely that an acceptable bond will be produced.

Brown protested, with a great show of earnestness, that he had been wrongfully accused, that he was absolutely innocent of intent to commit a crime, and that he was merely bargaining for a pair of socks, when the alleged theft took place. This, however, was taken with a "grain of salt" by the magistrate, who considered the testimony of the state's witnesses and did not lose sight of the fact that the accused made a desperate and almost successful attempt to get away, directly after he was caught in the store.

Belgium produces an average of 200,000 tons of raw sugar per year.

W. D. STARK WILL OPEN OFFICE HERE MONDAY

W. D. Stark, traveling passenger agent for the Atlantic Coast Line railway, came to Daytona Thursday afternoon and will be regularly established, beginning next Monday, with desk room as usual in the Daily News and Gazette-News office. On and after next Monday Mr. Stark will be at the office from 9:30 a. m. to 12:00 noon on Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday of each week. His postoffice box will be 741.

Mr. Stark was accompanied Thursday by J. A. Von Dolen, Florida passenger agent for the N. C. & St. L. railway, who was temporarily in the city.

Immunity of Children.

Professor Armbruster asserts that the reason very young children are relatively immune to infectious diseases is that their hearts beat so much more rapidly than those of older persons that the blood flows swiftly through the arteries; and this swiftness of flow makes it difficult for micro-organisms to gain a foothold in the blood stream.

Shrapnel a Flying Cannon.

The shrapnel is really a flying cannon, which shoots its charge while in flight or explodes on contact. Its speed is produced by the pressure of from thirty thousand to thirty-five thousand pounds a square inch from the powder that expels it from the gun.

Two Forms of Labor.

There is one sort of labor which adds to the value of the subject upon which it is bestowed; there is another which has no such effect. The former,
as it produces a value, may be called productive, the latter unproductive, labor.—Adam Smith.

FIRST GIRL IN 120 YEARS

Heirs of Cunningham Family Have
All Been Boys Until This Baby Arrived.

San Antonio, Tex.—The first girl to be born in a family for about four generations, or about one hundred and twenty years, was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cunningham, 627 West Russell place, recently. They have christened the baby Mary Elizabeth.
Mr. Cunningham and his brother,
John H. Cunningham, belong to an old Tennessee family and have made their home in San Antonio for about nine years. In each generation for the last century and more sons have been born into the family and have carried the name of Cunningham into many states. The birth of the first daughter was an event of no little importance in the family of Cunningham.

Natural Ice Mine.

In the Alleghenies, just beyond Con-dorsport, Pa., there is a cave a few feet below the surface which is a natural ice mine, the ceiling walls and floor being covered with ice perpetually. Curiously, during summer the ice is thicker than in winter. The origin of this ice mine is mystery to scientists.

LEADS CIRCUS LIFE BUT

THINKS OF OTHER THINGS

Frank G. Scott, who is secretary of the Johnny J. Jones Carnival company, is a native of St. Petersburg, Fla., and, a man of considerable journalistic ability. Mr. Scott won fourth prize last fall in a competitive letter writing contest arranged by the "Billboard," of Cincinnati, the purpose of which was to set forth the reasons why the office of public protector should be created in every community for the protection of persons criminally charged, and to oppose the efforts of the prosecuting attorney who fights for the conviction of the same. When it is known that there were nearly two thousands contestants who entered the race, the fact that Mr. Scott won fourth prize, is pretty good proof that he thinks of other things than those which serve only to amuse the people.

Philosophical.

"You used to say you depended on the wisdom of the plain people."
"Yes." "But now and then the plain people play a trick on you and neglect to send you to congress." "That doesn't destroy my faith in their wisdom. A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men."—Washington Star

A thousand-acre grove of orange and grapefruit trees is a wonderful thing. Such a grove has been made but once in the history of Florida. It is located at Lucerne Park, in Polk County, and is recognized as the finest accomplishment in the citrus development of the state. The men who built this grove are now engaged in making an even finer one, twice as large, at Mountain Lake, some ten miles away.

The tract is located in the heart of the famous citrus belt of the lake region of Florida, comprises over 2,500 acres. It is uniformly fertile, beautifully rolling and splendidly located as regards transportation. The grove making will be along the most efficient lines, and the property will be laid out by a landscape architect of international reputation. Lovely winter homesites will fringe the lake shores, dot
the sides of Iron Mountain and crown the adjacent elevations.

The groves will be planted and sold in ten-acre units. The land will be cleared and planted, the trees cared for and cultivated and all necessary attention given the groves for five years. This part of the development will be under the direction of M. E. Gillett & Son, the world's foremost citrus experts, who have made many of Florida's greatest groves, including those at Lucerne Park. They have also assumed the selling agency for the properties.

The landscape work will be done by Frederick Law
Olmsted, of Brookline, Mass.
Mr. Olmsted was associated with his father, the leading landscape architect of his day,
in planning Biltmore Estate.
He has to his own credit much notable landscaping, including Roland Park in Baltimore and Forest Hills Gardens, Long Island. At Mountain Lake he will conserve the natural beauties without interference with the economic features.

The Mountain Lake Corporation commands respect because of the standing of the gentlemen who compose it.
Among the leading stockholders are the following:
FRANK S. WARREN, president American Cyanamid Company,
Newark, N. J.;
NICHOLS FALLS, Ont., president Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, Ala.;
JAMES MITCHELL, president Alabama Traction, Light & Power Company, Ltd., New York and London;
HARVEY E. GOODMAN, vice-president and general manager
Goodman Manufacturing Company, electrical mining machinery, Chicago, Ill.

A preliminary booklet, now ready for distribution, gives the plans much more in detail. Copy will be mailed on application and further particulars supplied upon request.

Satisfying One's Conscience.

Never pass by or palter with the clear voice of conscience, with the plain command of duty; never let it be doubtful to your own soul whether you belong to the right side or wrong, whether you are a true soldier or a false traitor. Never deliberate about what is clearly wrong and try to persuade yourself that it is not.—Frederick Temple.

Anatomy and Physiology.

Anatomy and physiology, while intimately related, are yet clearly distinct in their functions, anatomy treating of the structure of organisms, while physiology deals with the vital phenomena manifested by animals and plants. Anatomy and physiology are both branches of the science of biology.

Seek to Revive Industry.

The government of the Bahama islands is trying to revive the production of sea island cotton, once a flourishing industry there.

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

C. S. Cannon, special representative of the S. A. L. railway, has taken apartments at the Ridgewood for the remainder of the season. Mr. Cannon is here on business for his road, and will make the Ridgewood hotel his headquarters for the balance of the season.

Rain put a quietus on the tennis tournament at the Despland hotel, yesterday, so that the opening matches had to be postponed until this morning. Provided the weather clears up and the court is dry enough for fast play, the elimination matches are expected to begin this morning.

John Howard Lacy entertained a number of guests at dinner at the Ridgewood, Wednesday evening, among the party being Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Coombs, of Boston. Mr. Coombs is manager of the big Jordan-Marsh department store of the "Hub city," and has been at Daytona for some time.

Word has been received from H. L. Bowles, who with Mrs. Bowles spent the larger share of a month at the Ridgewood earlier in the season. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles had been in Los Angeles for several days, and reported rain every day. Mr. Bowles says in conclusion that "Daytona is the place," and that he and Mrs. Bowles will spend the larger part of next season here.

Here is an idea originating with H. L. Bowles, a Baltimore man who visited here earlier in the year. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles are both enthusiastic hunters and enjoyed many days quail hunting here in the forepart of the season. Mr. Bowles says he would like to be one of a dozen or so sportsmen to build and maintain a clubhouse, where competent guides could be stationed.

Most Ancient of Customs.

The mind of man does not run back to the time when there was no dancing. Ever since the morning stars danced together for joy there have been dances grave and gay in celebration of all the happenings in the life of man. So interwoven with love, war and religion are the movements of the body that the dance has been an integral part of the history, art and literature in which are preserved the records of all generations.

Napoleon and Hannibal.

Napoleon and Hannibal were both supreme in the art of battle-winning. To the question, "Which was the greater?" it is difficult to give an answer. A great many military authorities give the palm to Hannibal over all the great captains of history.

Champion Nature Faker.

"I know a nature faker," said Mr. Rache, the author, "who claims that a hen of his last month hatched, from a setting of seventeen eggs, seventeen chicks that had, in lieu of feathers, fur. He claimed that these fur coated chicks were proof of nature's adaptation of all animals to their environment, the seventeen eggs having been of the cold storage variety."

CLARENDON-ORMOND VS. BROOKLYN BOYS

BIG GAME OF BASEBALL IS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT FRIDAY AT EBBETS' PARK—LINE-UP TO BE LATER ANNOUNCED.

There is to be a game of baseball at Ebbets' park next Friday afternoon between the Brooklyn Superbas and a picked team from the combined clubs of Hotel Clarendon and the Ormond which is sure to furnish a lot of fun for local fans, regardless of the result.

Both of the big hotels have a number of professional and semi-professional players in their line-up this season, who have made their mark in the baseball world some time since, but owing to an unusual amount of practice, they are all in the pink of condition and should give an excellent account of themselves in next Friday's game.

At the present time the Brooklyn Superbas are undergoing a stiff workout every day under the watchful eye of Manager Robinson, and if weather conditions are right on the day of the match, hundreds of fans from all over this section will be on hand to "give them the once over," and incidentally to size up their chances of being penant winners this fall.

William Klem, official umpire of the National league, will umpire Friday's game, which adds another feature to the big event. A line-up of both teams will appear in an early issue of the Daily News. Street car service will be operated to and from the grounds on next Friday afternoon.
Game called at 3:00 o'clock.

CASINO AND ELECT OFFICERS OF ORGANIZATION.

Quite a number of citizens of the Lake state assembled at the Nautilus casino Thursday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Michigan state society.

Benford Deacon, secretary of the Daytona board of trade, acted as temporary chairman.

Mr. Pickett, of Milford, Mich., was elected president; B. H. Smith, of Cairo, Mich., vice-president, and Miss Emily Hendricks, of South Haven, Mich., secretary of the society for the period of one year. These officers also constitute the entertainment committee and announce that a basket picnic will be held next Thursday, March 11, at Ponce Park, the trip to be made on the regular boat of the Nutting line.
All desiring to attend the picnic are requested to notify by postal the secretary, Miss Emily Hendricks, 407

INTERCOLLEGIATE SWIM

IN YALE UNIVERSITY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5.—

The intercollegiate championship will be held here this evening. The breast and back stroke swimmers have been substituted for the plunge for distance event. Considerable opposition has arisen in the last few years to the plunge event, owing to the lack of interest in the competition, and also to the long time necessary to run off
the event.

G. E. Darby, who has been the guest of his father, G. W. Darby, at Daytona Beach, departed today on his return to his home in Blossburg, Pa. Mr.
Darby will first go to New Orleans, where he expects to remain for a few days before starting directly for home.

A Saving Person.

Boarder—"What do you mean by calling us to breakfast at this hour?
It's only five o'clock." Waitress—
"The missus heard it thundering, and she told us to hurry up and serve breakfast before the milk soured."

TIDAL WAVE WOULD NOT INTERFERE WITH PRACTICE

If persistent practice will have anything to do with winning this year's national baseball pennant, the Brooklyn boys can start in right now and buy real estate in Daytona with a share of their percentage earnings.
Rain doesn't seem to interfere in the least with Manager Robinson's plans to keep the players with their noses continually on the grindstone, and it is doubtful if there is anything short of a tidal wave that would cause him to let up. Even if the latter condition existed, he would, in all probability, erect an ark provided with accommodations for practice of the game.

Climatic conditions here are working wonders with the boys as regards their general health and appetites.
Every player is enjoying perfect health and in many cases are putting on extra weight. All of the hotels at which the players are quartered, are showing the boys special attention so that when they leave here in April the proprietors will have no regrets for not having done all in their power to help the boys to attain success.

CURRAN STILL MAINTAINS RECORD FOR CATCHING FISH

L. B. Curran, of Elmira, N. Y., who spends his winters at Daytona Beach, and who bears the reputation of being the champion fisherman of this locality, still maintains his record. Wednesday he landed 60 fish from the pier and again yesterday he brought in a string of 50.

GREAT AFRICAN LION ATTACKS AND INJURES TRAINER, FLORIDA BOY

About 3:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon, on the Johnny Jones show grounds, Frank Levine, who does a thrilling act with four immense black-maned African lions, had a narrow escape from horrible death.

Levine was just about to begin one of the afternoon performances, and had some difficulty in opening one of the doors through which the lions pass from their steel cages into the arena. Going inside the rear-enclosed passageway to try to remedy the trouble, Levine released Prince, a large and vicious lion, and then began retreating toward the arena. On the way through the passageway he stumbled, and when he did so, the huge jungle monarch sprung to the attack. He reached the intrepid trainer, and probably would have ripped him to shreds had not Manager "Curly" Wilson of the animal show been near. Captain Wilson succeeded in fighting the infuriated beast off, allowing Levine to spring to his feet. As it was, Levine's left arm was badly gashed almost its entire length when the lion raked through the sleeve with one of his paws. The injured arm was attended to, and Levine was urged not to try to do any more work for a time, but he went right on with the next exhibition. It had been only a little over two weeks since the same lion, Prince, had attacked his trainer and gravely imperiled his life while the Johnny Jones shows were at Orlando.

Orlando, by the way, is young Levine's home. He became an animal trainer about three years ago, and is regarded as one of the most fearless and successful in the profession. Prior to engaging in the hazardous occupation he now follows, he was a chauffeur. His real name is Solomon.

A city man once had occasion to visit a farmer on business, and remained for dinner. The piece de resistance was literally a very tough chicken. Those at table, including the farmer's two young sons, struggled unsuccessfully to make some impression upon their respective helpings, when Sam turned to his brother. "Tom," he said softly, "I wish old Dick hadn't a-died. Don't you?"

WANT GOVERNMENT PUT MORE FULLY IN HANDS OF PEOPLE

NEW YORK, March 5.—From its headquarters in Brooklyn, the committee on the federal constitution is working hard to further the measure introduced in congress by Representative Bryan revising the amending article of the constitution. Their purpose is to put the government of the United States more fully in the hands of the people.

The new committee includes Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation, Prof. Charles A. Beard, of Columbia university, W. T. Cross, secretary of the National Conference of Charity and Correction, Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard university and Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' league.

The resolution introduced by Representative Bryan provides for the reduction of the vote by which congress may propose amendments to the constitution, from two-thirds to a majority, and of the proportion of the states required for ratification of amendments so proposed, from three-fourths to two-thirds.

It also provides for a new plan of revising the constitution that is independent of congress and of the state legislatures. This new plan requires that the question of holding a convention to propose amendments to the constitution shall be submitted to the voters of the country at every fifth presidential election, or every twenty years, and at such other presidential elections as a majority of congress or a majority of the states may determine.

When decided in the affirmative, delegates would be chosen and the convention assembled on the fourth of March two years afterwards, and the convention's recommendation submitted to popular vote at the ensuing presidential election. By the terms of this measure a majority vote for ratifying amendments proposed by conventions. Each state would be represented in the convention by as many delegates as it had representatives in the two houses of congress.

The committee declares that "the people of the United States have not control over their fundamental law at the present time, save in a minor degree, with the consequence that our institutions do not reflect the popular will, but in reality other forces over which we have only a measure of control."

Rose to the Occasion.

Dad (from the hall)—"Why, Marjorie, how dim the light is in here!" Freddy (the fiance, not a college graduate in vain)—"Yes, sir, Professor Munsterberg has a theory that brilliant light benumbs the intellect. We are experimenting to find the degree of illumination by which the attention is kept vivid and the mental functions active."—Judge.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS

CITY OF BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., March 5.—Representatives of the high schools in every part of Carolina county are debating today on the question: "That the United States Should (and) Control the Railroads." The custom has long prevailed in this county and some of the country's most representative men have been developed.

FAIR AT LEIPSIK HELD DESPITE THE GREAT WAR

LEIPSIK, March 5.—The fair of Messe, closed today, having opened on the fifth despite the war. There was a good sprinkling of buyers from the United States and other neutral countries in Europe. The chamber of commerce guaranteed prompt delivery of foreign orders for goods. Travelers were spared any special annoyance at the German frontier.

HUB DWELLERS SAVE WORDS

Hotel Men Say Bostonians Are Somewhat Chary of Speech When Traveling.

New York.—"Ever hear of Boston brevity?" asked the room clerk at the Belmont, holding up a telegram. It simply read: "Tonight."

"That means," explained the clerk, "that the signer will arrive on a certain train, that a porter is to meet him, that a room with bath on the eighth floor, with southern exposure, with a bath already drawn, is to be in readiness."

"That's nothing for brevity," reminded an assistant manager who stood near. "We have a man from Boston here who doesn't have to say a word when he gives an order. When he is about to go away, he catches the eye of the head porter and holds up one finger, and the head porter knows that the Bostonian wants a ticket on the five o'clock train, a seat in the second Pullman and a seat midway on the right side of the dining car."

HE BECOMES LAWYER AT 48

Constant Desire Since Early Boyhood Is Fulfilled After Successful Business Career.

St. Louis.—An ambition to be a lawyer that has possessed John J. Morse, No. 3834 Flad avenue, since boyhood, was gratified recently when he was admitted to the bar. He was presented in Judge Grimm's court by Loomis C. Johnson.

Mr. Morse is forty-eight years old and married. He was connected with the St. Louis Car Wheel company for eighteen years, the last five of which he was general manager of the Southern Wheel company. Since his early boyhood he says he had had a desire to be a lawyer.

He studied at the Benton Law school and passed the state bar examination after 11 months' preparation. The course generally is three years. Mr. Morse will be associated with John D. and Loomis C. Johnson in the National Bank of Commerce.

When Corsets Were Discarded. Twice in their history have corsets been discarded or rendered negligible. In the seventeenth century, when whalebone corsets were quite the rage, Spain, Italy and the Netherlands, as if surfeited of such fashion, adopted a new standard of beauty. Full forms and rounded busts called for no artificial support, and the style of gowns was so altered as to meet this change.

Blindness of the World. The world which credits what is done is cold to all that might have been.—Tennyson.

EUROPEAN NEWS AND VIEWS.

LONDON, March 5.—Matters have reached such a stage that the attitude of the smaller countries not involved in the war, is extremely interesting. It, indeed, it does not cause anxiety. Although everything possible is being done to avoid such a step, sentiment in Holland seems to be growing in favor of entering the war if the rights of the Dutch people are further infringed upon. In Roumania too, there is a critical situation, although it is stated that the war fever in that country is abating. If it is true that the Czar's government has given formal assurances to Bucharest with regard to the free navigation and internationalization of the Bosphorus, Constantinople and the Dardanelles, then it is unlikely that Roumania will be drawn into the present conflict.

A curious situation obtains in France. Society women, although they are interested in the war and spend much of their time and money in their efforts to assist its victims, have for the time being, partly diverted their attention to the fashions of the new season. Black and white effects are to be the vogue of the year, because they are indicative of mourning and can be substituted for the deep black which citizens of the country have been requested not to wear. The fact that the races will be held this spring as usual, has done much to cheer the spirits of the French people, for there is nothing that French society—and all classes, for that matter—so adores as a spirited horse race.

POSTPONED VANDERBILT CUP RACE ON TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The Vanderbilt Cup race which was postponed from February 22 will be run today. There was great disappointment over the postponement of the classic.

Not Safe to Fool With. "What's the big gathering at the depot for? Some eminent citizen expected?" "Nope. That's the usual crowd. Everybody comes down to see the train arrive." "Oh, that's it. And suppose the train was wrecked on the way?" "I dunno what they would do. Sue the road, mebbe. Anyway, th' railway folks better not try it. Our people are mighty ticklish 'bout their vested rights." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

vately operated in France by English women helped by voluntary contributions for the British wounded soldiers are being closed by the war office. Their place will be taken by a vast temporary hospital which the government is building at Rouen. This will contain more than three thousand beds, and to the hospital proper will be attached a laboratory for the preparation of serum.

In reply to many inquiries that have been made regarding the food supply of Germany, it is stated upon the highest authority, that the German authorities do not fear a famine, even though the war continue for two years longer. During the past few weeks, the people have renewed their determination to live upon as little food as is possible for proper nourishment. This example was set by the Kaiser himself and the Kaiserin and women of the court are preparing menus that can be made up quickly and cheaply, and yet will supply sufficient variety to avoid becoming sur-band is of the fortunes of his soldiers. Two seasons ago the Irish players took London by storm and there has been a demand for Irish players ever since—or until recently. Now, it is the Belgian players who are being welcomed with open arms in the British capital. The plays that are produced by the Belgian actors and actresses may be described as strictly up to the moment because they deal with the middle class life of Brussels under German occupation. M. Fonson, leader of the Belgian players, bears a strong facial resemblance to the portraits of Henry IV.

WEATHER MAN KIND TO SOME OF THE PLAYERS

RAIN INTERFERING WITH PRACTICE—ROBINSON AND SEVERAL OF HIS GANG PLAYED GOLF YESTERDAY.

Old Jupe Pluvius came pretty near shutting out the Superbas yesterday. This, however, did not keep several of the players off the golf links over the river. Manager Robinson led the pack over the 18 holes and came out with the lowest score. Jake Daubert, who made quite a reputation last winter as a shot, took on Lew McCarty in a clay pigeon shoot, each breaking 29 birds out of 35.

In the afternoon about three hours of good solid work was gone through. A diamond was laid out, and practice at running out bunts and circling the bases was indulged in for more than an hour. Every pitcher and catcher took up his position after which they chased flies in the outfield.

The players were anxious for the rain to continue, as President Ebbets had promised them a plunge in the natatorium if it was impossible to work. The invitation, however, still holds good.

Ten teams and twice that number of negroes were at work on the field all day distributing loam in an effort to have it ready for Saturday's game between the Regulars and Yannisians.

Hundreds visit the field afoot and in automobiles daily to watch the workouts, and a crowd of 3,000 is expected Saturday. Commencing next Saturday there will be a game played every day until the club leaves here for the north.

President Ebbets has been spending considerable time around the aviation school of Ruth Law, but is yet undecided whether he will accept the invitation of the lady aviator to throw out the first ball from her aeroplane at the real opening of the field next week, when the game with Stetson university is played.

Awful Thought

A little girl receiving her first religious teaching was much impressed by the unique character and omnipotence of the Almighty. Saying her prayers at night, she added a peculiar and earnest petition: "And, O Lord, please take good care of yourself, for if anything happens to you, O Lord, what are the rest of us going to do?"

Unkind Suggestion.

"Writing much verse now?" asked the critic. "Not much," returned the poet. "Only enough to keep the wolf from the door." "Why, do you read it over to him?" asked the critic.—New York American.

LECTURE AT HOTEL ORMOND WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The lecture given in the Hotel Ormond casino Thursday evening by Frank M. Chapman, of the Museum of Natural History of New York, was largely attended and evidently greatly appreciated by all fortunate enough to be present. In order to allow the guests to enjoy the regular evening concert the lecture was not begun until 9:00 o'clock.

Mr. Chapman was introduced by Mrs. Preston, formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland, who is a guest at the Bretton Inn, in company with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Chapman.

Mr. Chapman illustrated his lecture with stereopticon views, the pictures for which were taken by him while in the Bahama islands a few years ago. The subject of the lecture was "A Flamingo City in the Bahamas," and in addition to many pictures of Andros Island, on which this bird city is located, the lecturer gave numerous views of various places in the Bahamas, his lecturer including interesting facts concerning the geology, fauna and flora of the islands, and his personal experiences while cruising among them.

Several automobile parties from this city attended the lecture.

Transparent Paper.

To chemically cause paper to become transparent, use the following solution on the paper: White wax, two ounces; absolute alcohol, 15 ounces, and ether, one ounce. The solution will be muddy at first, but after a few minutes pour off the clear solution, which is the one to save and use.
